Department of Statistics: MA Hybrid Online/On Campus Program
Fall 2015

When and How Can I Register for Classes?

You will be assigned periods of time, during which you can register. These "registration appointments" will be listed on Student Services Online (SSOL). Your UNI and password will be required to access SSOL, and then click on “REG APPTS” from the menu on the left. This will enable you to see your designated times during which you may enroll in course.

Both when online and on campus, your primary registration source is the online system SSOL.

What is a Residence Unit (RU) and when do I have to register for an RU?

Please note that registration at the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences is a two-part process that consists of registering for individual courses and registering for a Residence Unit (RU). Your Resident Unit, not the registration of courses, provides the basis of your tuition charges. Therefore, all students must complete both parts of the registration process. Course registration and RU registration are done through Student Services Online (SSOL). As a requirement of the program all MA students must complete 2 RU’s to qualify for graduation.

For complete information about registration procedures, refer to the GSAS Registration page (please note some of the information might not apply to you until you arrive on-campus). For more information about your RU options, please see below.

You may not register for Extended Residence until you have registered in a total of two Residence Units. Extended Residence is a full-time registration category regardless of how many classes you are registered for)

Please note:
Adding classes may also cause your RU status to change. Therefore please note the change in your RU status and register for appropriate RU’s accordingly. If you want to change to a lower RU, you have to do that manually, as it is not automatic.

Students who complete two full RU’s without completing the degree requirements should register for Extended Residence.

Students in the Hybrid program must register for a quarter (1/4) Residence Unit for every 3 points of credit (a 3-point course = 1/4 Residence Unit and this applies for every semester in the program (on campus or online).

What is the registration process for the online portion of the program?

During the online portion of the program, a student must register for an appropriate RU status that corresponds with the appropriate number of course credits that the student is going to take. In the first semester of online courses, the majority of our Hybrid students take 1 RU, which entitles student to a full-time status. For those that take less than a full-time course load, please refer to the Residence Unit section on which RU to register for with courses.

What is the registration process for the on campus portion of the program?

Once on campus, in addition to registering for the remainder of classes, students must complete enough RU’s to make sure the 2 required RU’s is met to graduate. If a student was full-time during their online semester, they need to complete 1 RU in the spring and then Extended Residence in their final third semester. If a domestic student was PT for the online portion the RU category will differ and students will select an appropriate RU category by discussing first with their Faculty Adviser.
